STYLE: DARK GRAPHIC NOVEL | GENRE: NOIR CYBERPUNK THRILLER

A weary homicide detective chases an impossible suspect through the rain-drenched neon veins of the lower district, only to discover the phantom leaves footprints made of pure stat

PANEL 1: THE SCENT OF OZONE [HISS...]

NARRATION:

The rain doesn't smell like rain tonight. It smells like burnt copper and old memories I tried to leave in the precinct trash.

DETECTIVE VANCE:

"Right. Because chasing serial killers through normal alleys was just too damn easy."

PANEL 2: THE STATIC EDGE [BZZZ-CRACK!]

NARRATION:

For a second, I thought about pulling the trigger. Then I realized the gun in my hand was made of the exact same light.

DETECTIVE VANCE:

"End of the line, ghost. Drop the frequency or I'll ground you permanently."